

The American Medical Association (AMA) is offering several educational opportunities to help physicians understand the requirements of the new Quality Payment Program (QPP) that was created by the Medicare Access and CHIP Reauthorization Act (MACRA). The sessions have been scheduled to give physicians an understanding of what the final rule means for their practice and what they need to do as part of the QPP.

All of the sessions, except the November 29th, are open to physicians and medical society staff. We hope you will take advantage and register for these opportunities to learn what you need to know and pass along the registration information to your physician members.

The November 29th session will be focused on helping medical society staff to gain a better understanding of the new regulations so you will be prepared to answer your members questions.
